Crowdsourcing

During our week off, you will be contributing to a digital crowdsourcing project. Below is a list of suggested crowdsourcing projects; there are also a lot of newer ones out there, and I would be more than happy if you use one of them. These projects range from archival projects, like the Our Marathon project, to crowdsourced mapping and transcription platforms. This list is not exhaustive, so if you find another crowdsourcing project that you want to contribute to, please email me so I can take a look at the site and add it to this list.

Note: some of these projects have stopped accepting new contributions. Check before you sign up.

- Our Marathon: The Boston Bombing Digital Archive
- Transcribe Bentham
- New York Public Library Map Warper
- New York Public Library Building Inspector
- Smithsonian Digital Volunteers: Transcription Center
- Making History: Transcribe Library of Virginia
- Missing Maps
- New York Public Library: What's on the Menu
- Zooinverse: Ancient Lives
- Zooinverse: Old Weather
- Zooinverse: Cyclone Center
- Zooinverse: Galaxy Zoo
- Trove Digital Newspapers: Correcting OCR
- Distributed Proofreaders
- Metadata Games
- Citizen Archivist
- The Bracero History Archive
- Papers of the War Department: 1784-1800
- Prism: Crowdsourcing Interpretation
- DIY History
- Project Augur
- Chronicling Illinois
- The Johnny Cash Project